

The Lion who was afraid to roar!

One day there was a lion cub and his name was Leo. He had little yellow ears but he does not have a mane yet. He lives with granny and grandpa in the big magnificent colourful jungle. He likes to hunt and sniff for baby deer and races with his friends but he was afraid to....roar!

Then he went to Lion school on Sunday which was a short walk from granny and grandpas cave. His class is 1Roar and his teacher is called Roary who is kind, always full of energy and excited to hear everyone roar. Roary called each cub and one by one, they took turns to roar as loud as they can. But when it was Leos turn he looked down and Roary could see that he was nervous. Roary got down and encouraged Leo to have a go at roaring. He spoke to Leo gently and said that all his friends were there to help and support him. His friends all looked at Leo smiling saying that he was so brave and that everything would be ok.

Now Leo is in 6Roar because he is ten years old and his teacher is called Mr Runer. Leo was now roaring really loud and was full of confidence! He was no longer afraid to roar. The end.
